TC STUDIO ↘

Designed by Tianyi Chang, the Tubular barstool is created from powder coated steel rods and tubes. This combination of different industrial material creates a striking visual and yet surprisingly comfortable experience. The Tubular barstool is produced in limited quantities. It comes in powder-coated white and bespoke colours are available upon request.

JACK TRENCH ↘

Jack Trench are cabinet makers based in North London, offering a comprehensive service in bespoke interior and architectural joinery. They work closely with their clients taking a project from the initial design stages through to site completion, producing CAD drawings and 3D visuals. They aim to make the process smooth and flexible and have a comprehensive list of satisfied clients. Pictured are high gloss wardrobes - an example of their work.

PURISME ↗

For Purisme's Red Dot Award-winning Letter Opener, cutting-edge design shapes ultra-light, high-tech carbon into a distinctive sculptural statement. The resulting tool is both visually and haptically pleasing. Manufactured in a process that combines the latest serial production technology with traditional craftsmanship, it is fitted with a specially developed RFID tag, programmed with a personal message from the object's creator, Mario Zeppetzauer.

TC STUDIO ↘

Knife Hooks designed by Tisnyi Chang, a graduate of the Royal College of Art and Design, is a cheeky but oddly practical object on which to hang your coat or even jewellery. Made from polyurethane and steel, produced using craft-based techniques of casting and sanding and only available in matte black, Knife Hooks are easy to install as they simply screw into the wall. The screws are embedded into the body of the knife, so no additional screws or tools are needed. This limited edition design will make a distinctive statement in any living space.
